

The background of the advertisement is a close-up photograph of a hand being cleaned. A gloved hand in a teal nitrile glove is holding a white, rectangular sponge. The sponge is being pressed against the back of another hand, which is wearing a white latex glove. The surface of the white glove is covered in a thick, bubbly, light-colored foam, indicating the application of a cleaning solution. The scene is set against a light, neutral background.

Help Patients Bathe at the Bedside or Prepare for Surgery.

CHG Skin Cleansing Kit

CHG (chlorhexidine gluconate) is a topical antiseptic that significantly reduces the number of microorganisms on the skin. It can be used as a preoperative skin preparation and also for general skin cleansing, particularly in the ICU for patients with surgical wounds or central lines. Current clinical studies indicate that "the use of CHG bathing is increasing in hospitals in an effort to prevent central-line-associated bloodstream infections (CLABSIs), surgical site infections (SSIs) as well as infections or colonization due to multidrug-resistant organisms (MDROs)."<sup>1</sup>
